SCHOOLGIRLS OUTCLASSING SCHOOLBOYS.

There does appear to be reason for wonder that of the ten honor pupils in this year's graduating class of the Rutland high school every one was a girl. Without doubt the boys took honors in the athletic field, but then the girls were not competitors with them in that respect. The situation in the Rutland high school is not materially different than in the other schools and even the colleges of the country. Whenever the girls and boys are in the same classes and take the same examinations it almost invariably follows that the latter come out second best in the ranking in scholarship. Their girl friends generally surpass them in that field. And the reason is not hard to find. It is that the boys do not apply themselves to their studies. They would rather indulge in an athletic game or participate in something foreign to their books, while the girls in the same schools do not have so many distractions to call their minds from the work before them, and consequently can and do give more nearly the proper amount of time to their studies. If the boys are to be in brain competition with their sisters and do not wish to be outclassed they will need to change their methods.

The assertion made by the Times several weeks ago that there would be more unpledged delegates in the Republican state convention this year than in any convention for many years is proving true with each succeeding day's returns. Of the 253 delegates already reported elected only 102 are reported as favoring this or that candidate and 151, or nearly two-thirds are without preferences. The nomination is no man's, as yet, but the fact that two avowed candidates who have been casting their nets for votes for a year or more, can muster so few delegates does not offer a very promising outlook for them in the convention. Joseph A. DeLoer, who is attending strictly to his business affairs, is nearer the nomination today than he has been at any time. The voters want the best man and they will have him when they get into the convention.

The picnic season is here. Take to the tall timber with your family. If you have none take part of some family.—Middlebury Register.

But use discrimination in your second choice and leave your neighbor's wife at home.

A reduction in the tax rate is not the least matter for the citizens of Barre to be thankful for when the season of thanksgiving arrives.

The Japs continue to deliver some powerful whacks on the Bear's skull, and the latter grunts his disapproval.

Reports say that Bell will not have a solid instructed delegation from his own county.

And still the cry grows to retain the local option law for another two years.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Close Distinction.

"I have just read your last book of poems," said the critical friend.

"That is ungrammatical," said the soulful bard; "you should have said my latest book of poems."

"I suppose it was wrong, but I was merely trying to take a hopeful view of the situation."—Washington Star.

Extraneous.

Mrs. Wylkyns—Why is it, Herbert, that you never call me "dear" any more?

Mr. Wylkyns—Well, I don't like to twit you with it.—Somerville Journal.

Musical Note.

That upright piano next door may in music be all that they claim, but when Josephine flees to its cellfold keys then we swear 'tis a darned, downright shame. —Judge.

A Japanese & Dutch Song.

This song is being sung at the first Friday school of Tokyo, says the St. James Gazette:

Asahi, Shikishima and other whips kicked the yellow of the Yellow sea And sank the Russian ships. Lo, the Japan sea is calm and green.

Let us burn Vladivostok. Let us bury the Russian soldiers in Harbin.

If we march deep into Siberia. What can Russia do?

Then our glory will rise high. Then our enemy will be cleared off. Our golden people, stand to arms! Here are words, our Yemato people. We are the virtuous nation of the far east.

Lo, on our Fujiyama the snow is divinely white.

Your opinion wanted—we'll pay you for it.

Compare this cut with the one shown in our advertisement of yesterday. Which is the more striking—the white on black or the black on white?

What to you personally is the most necessary thing in a new suit?

Is it the QUALITY of the cloth?

The STYLE of the cut?

The FIT of the COAT?

Or the PRICE?

What do you think of a store where one gets all four of these points?

Ours is the only store in Barre where you find all this.

WE CLEAN, PRESS AND REPAIR CLOTHING.

THE BEAR AND THE LION.

When Englishmen become convinced that Russia has no designs on Great Britain's territorial interests in southern Asia it will not be difficult to arrive at an understanding.—Denver Republican.

The settlement of the Russo-Canadian fishery dispute is regarded as paving the way to a general adjustment of differences between Russia and Great Britain and the negotiation of a commercial treaty.—Pittsburg Gazette.

OUR GOLD.

The yellow streams is now going to Europe, but when the crops are marketed the golden tide will turn this way. The farmers are the hope of the country.—Memphis News.

Talk about yellow peril! There isn't a bit of fear of it in Europe when it takes the shape of American gold dollars in the hands of American tourists nor in any other hands.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Felix W. McGettrick of St. Albans arrived home Thursday from a ten days' trip in the West and South, including Louisville, Ky., St. Louis and Chicago. Mr. McGettrick was state representative to the national convention of the Knights of Columbus, which met last week in Louisville.

Addison county poultry raisers, whose tale of hard luck made the rounds of the state press early in the spring, ought to get the pattern of W. W. Jones' two incubators, says the Randolph Herald, out of which he took 239 chickens the first of the week, one of them hatching 87 chickens out of 95 eggs.

Three Winoski young men, George Lamontain, Frank Barney and Frank Parizo, who were arrested about two weeks ago for stealing a quantity of lead pipe from the premises of the American Woolen company, were brought before Justice Frank L. Graves yesterday afternoon and arraigned on a charge of stealing lead. All three pleaded guilty and were fined an aggregate of $90 which they paid.

A couple of deer roamed through Marquette park, Randolph, one day last week and, coming down into the road that winds across the face of the hill, gazed for a minute or two at the village spread out below them. About the same time three deer were seen early in the morning at Mrs. Ida Mann's farm and were mistaken for calves until they vaulted over a fence with something more than calf-like ease and grace of manner.

Capt. E. P. Woodbury of Burlington met with a serious mishap Thursday that is causing him great inconvenience but his physicians think that no serious results will follow. While out of doors he suddenly turned his head, when the cords in his neck tightened and his head became immovable. He also lost the use of his right arm and could only partially manipulate his left arm. Physicians were called at once and last evening the captain was improving, although he had not recovered the use of his right arm. He can eat and swallow as the cords were uninjured. It is expected that beyond inconvenience for a few days Captain Woodbury will not suffer.
